

British Holding Control of Air On Desert Front

Allied Planes Go Almost Unchallenged in Alamein Area

Imperial Forces Attack Axis Troops on Three Fronts at Once

By EDWARD KENNEDY

CAIRO, Egypt, July 22. (AP)—Under cover of Allied planes ruling the air almost without challenge, British Imperial forces attacked the Axis forces all along the forty-mile desert front west and south of Alamein tonight in an onslaught that began last night and raged inconclusively through today.

While it was still too early to see definite results, the British under the leadership of General Sir Claude Auchinleck reported progress.

The Imperials on the northern coastal sector occupied all of Tel El Eisa (Hill of Jesus) ridge, which has changed hands repeatedly.

On the center, where the action began last night, some progress was reported, with tanks in the fighting on both sides.

On the south, where the desert merges into the salt marshes of the Qattara depression, United Kingdom troops attacked and were making some progress.

Greatest Offensive

It was the first time the defenders of the Alamein positions—and of Egypt, the Nile and the Middle East—had attacked on all three sectors simultaneously.

The enemy forces of Marshal Erwin Rommel launched several counter-attacks during the day and heavy sea-saw fighting ensued.

The air force was carrying out a good share of the attack. Enemy fighters were out in slightly greater strength than Tuesday, when they were almost absent from the sky, but the Axis air activity still was small.

Elsewhere, the RAF struck at Axis bases as far away as the island of Crete, the Mediterranean stepping-stone captured by parachute invasion in the spring of 1941.

Although there was no official mention of parachute tactics or training observed on Crete, the attack there, 350 miles overseas from Egyptian bases, was regarded as a precautionary mission against any surprise to offset the failure of Axis desert forces to advance since they were stalled before El Alamein June 30.

Planes Cover Wide Area

With the desert and sea air virtually all to themselves for the first time, fighters, fighter-bombers, and light and heavy bombers probably augmented by American Liberators ranged near and far over the Egyptian—Libyan—Mediterranean theater.

On one tack, they struck at enemy preparations in the area of Sidi Barrani, 250 miles from the RAF bases.

In Suda Bay, Crete, two medium-sized supply ships were hit, a near-miss was scored on a larger vessel and a pier was set afire. While in the desert a concentration of 1,000 Axis vehicles was bombed and motorized infantry moving up the coastal road was dispersed. The Crete raid was described as "in force."

Japanese Troops Land on Papua

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, AUSTRALIA, Thursday, July 23. (AP)—Japanese forces have landed on the north coast of Papua at Gona Mission, where no Allied troops were stationed, General MacArthur's headquarters reported today.

Allied planes heavily attacked the debarking Japanese troops, the communiqué said. One large transport and one barge were sunk.

Heavy casualties were inflicted on the landing troops.

One enemy seaplane was shot down in fighting with Allied fighters. Two Allied planes were reported lost.

Conflicting Statements Increase Mystery of the Rubber Situation

WASHINGTON, July 22. (AP)—Rubber Coordinator Arthur Newhall declared today that the government would attempt to supply every usable automobile in the country with tires, simultaneously limiting all driving to "essential purposes."

Newhall said that no method of limiting such driving appeared feasible except rationing of gasoline on a nationwide basis.

A subsequent developments, however, left some questions as to the tire program unanswered.

Several hours after the rubber coordinator told three reporters he was seeking to supply tires for all cars, the Office of War Information issued a "handout" (memorandum to the press) quoting Newhall as saying:

THIS FELLOW MEANS WHAT HE SAYS!

If you should happen to bump into Seaman A. N. Gilmore, U.S.N., sometime when you are where you don't belong, it would be very wise to obey his words promptly and fully. He won't be fooling. Gilmore is one of the sailors who maintains a 24-hour watch over the lonely islands off the coast of southern California—and he backs up his orders and questions with that Springfield rifle.

BODIES OF 29 GERMAN U-BOAT CREWMEN BURIED IN VIRGINIA

NORFOLK, Va., July 22. (AP)—The bodies of twenty-nine crewmen of a German submarine sunk by a destroyer on Atlantic patrol—the first enemy dead to be landed on American shores in this war—were brought here and buried with full military honors in nearby Hampton.

The bodies and a few empty life jackets were all that remained afloat after the U-boat was sunk. The navy declined to give further details in announcing the action tonight.

The German dead were buried as night fell over the national cemetery at Hampton, Va. Brief requiem services were read over the twenty-nine new graves by two navy chaplains, Lieutenants W. F. Wheeler, U. S. N. R., who read the Catholic service, and Lieutenants R. A. Lundquist, U. S. N. R., who followed with the Protestant rites.

Also in attendance was Captain G. F. Daum, an army chaplain from Port Monroe.

After the services, a salute of three volleys was fired by a navy firing squad and navy bugler sounded taps. Other army and navy officers also were present.

O'Connor, Jackson Get Together in Maryland Contest

Agree upon Candidates for State Legislature at Conference

BALTIMORE, July 22. (AP)—Governor O'Connor said today that he had held "a most satisfactory" conference with Baltimore's Mayor Howard W. Jackson and William Curran, city Democratic leader, in their attempt to induce persons of recognized ability to seek seats in the General Assembly.

The governor confirmed reports that he and Mayor Jackson had thrown aside their former factional differences in what he said was an earnest attempt to raise the caliber of the state legislature.

Shortage of Meat Develops in East As Demand Grows

Price Ceilings and Lack of Transportation Blamed by Packers

Deliveries to Boston Slump Sharply; New Jersey Hard Hit

(By The Associated Press)

A shortage of meat developed in some areas yesterday in the midst of the nation's campaign to produce abundant food for victory.

Some packers attributed the deficiency to price ceilings, a tremendous demand for beef, a lack of adequate shipping facilities to some cities and heavy buying for the armed forces and lease-lend purposes.

Processors in Chicago contended the supply should be ample for the United States as a whole and that the scarcity was limited to some cities and to certain cuts of the commodity.

Some stores in Akron, Ohio, announced they were out of meat. In Washington, Office Price Administration officials acknowledged the Akron dearth, but thought the situation was "worse, if anything, along the eastern seaboard."

Boston Deliveries Off

Beef deliveries in Boston slumped seventy-five to eighty per cent below normal, and Joseph Daram, member of one of the city's largest beef firms, asserted:

"We don't see any relief in sight."

A shortage of beef was reported also in the Providence, R. I., section, and six chain retail stores stated they had none for sale. Philadelphia distributors said dressed beef supplies were forty per cent of normal and predicted the supply for most dealers would be gone by the end of the week. New York city packers estimated meat deliveries had been cut about twenty-five per cent, but added that no actual shortage existed, although buyers may have to forego quality cuts of beef and pork.

Shortage in New Jersey

Warren W. Oley, chief of the New Jersey Agriculture department's bureau of markets, termed the deficiency acute in the Trenton region. He declared it would become widespread unless action was taken quickly and asserted it was brought about by placing a ceiling on meat while none was set on livestock.

The Swift plant manager at Rochester, N. Y., figured beef stocks were twenty-five to thirty-five per cent smaller than last week. At Atlanta, Paul Duncan of the International Meat Cutters Union advised the OPA that lower meat ceilings in the south caused a fifty per cent shortage and the release of 150 men usually employed during the weekend rush by two large chain stores.

Some Plants Closed

The OPA, which placed price ceilings on dressed beef and dressed pork last winter and spring but fixed none for livestock, and the Agriculture department sought a solution to the problem. The agencies were confronted by the fact that prices of live hogs and cattle have risen and that the margin between the processed meats and the ceilings on the processed meats has narrowed to a point where many packers must operate at a loss or quit the business. Some have closed.

At Akron, president George Galat of the Galat Packing Company, declared the shortage was "due to an impossible situation which was created when the OPA set ceiling prices on wholesale and retail prices of meat but failed to put a ceiling on the price of livestock." He added:

"Cattle are now selling on the hoof for approximately $2 a hundred-weight more than in March when ceiling prices were established. The result is the packers simply cannot afford to pay the present prices, sell at March prices, and still show a profit. Rather than operate at a loss, they have greatly reduced their livestock purchases and as a result a serious shortage has developed."

In Chicago, Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, asserted there was "no foundation for the charge that farmers are holding back shipments of livestock in order to force prices higher."

Florida Lodges Complaint

In Jacksonville, a citizens committee representing Florida urged that the state be removed from the rationed area and asked a fifteen-day delay in application of the new rules.

In New York City traffic was considerably lighter—traffic officers had a chance to relax at long last. Stations reported they had good supplies of fuel, but no customers.

In Washington, meanwhile, OPA Administrator Leon Henderson said gasoline dealers violating the new rules faced being put out of business.

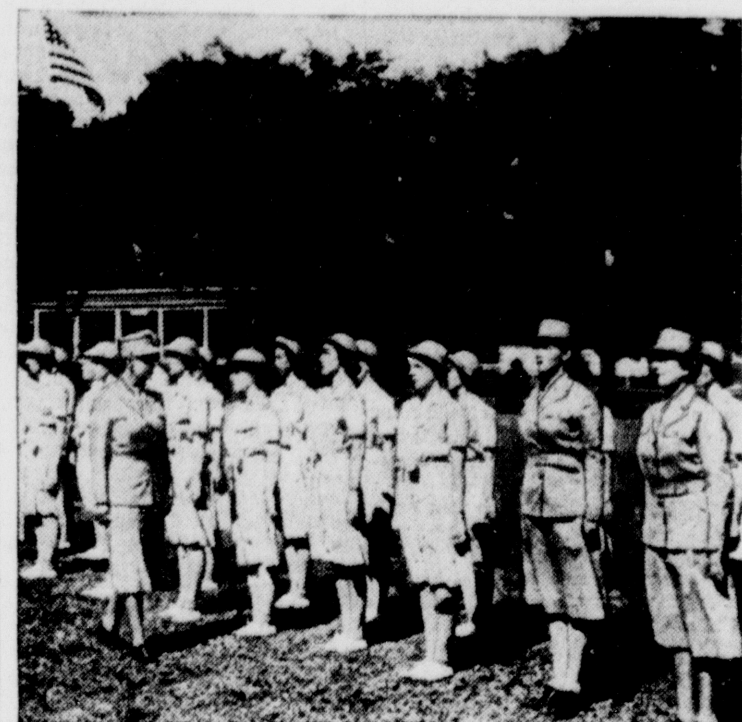

At Norfolk, Va., a truck carrying a full load of gasoline was stranded—its tank dry. The driver had applied for supplemental fuel to get to Washington, D. C. His coupon book arrived late.

In New Jersey, the plan brought confusion to many station operators. Many found their board lacked proper forms.

NAVY TO SPEND $30,000,000 FOR MYSTERIOUS NEW WEAPON

WASHINGTON, July 22. (AP)—The navy has a mysterious new weapon, the nature of which is a jealously-guarded secret, the House was told today by Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.), of the Naval Committee.

The disclosure came as the chamber, by voice vote, passed and sent to the Senate a measure authorizing expenditure of $975,634,000 for naval shore facilities to supplement the recently passed $8,850,000,000 fleet expansion program.

In cautiously-phrased sentences, Vinson declared that $30,000,000 of the new authorization would be spent "for a kind of secret training and a kind of secret weapon." He left the details to his colleagues' imaginations.

"This," he said, "is a matter the naval affairs committee should leave entirely to the prudence of the men who are going to carry out the secret work. I do not know except in the most general way where they will be located—within so many miles of the coast and so many miles back of that."

Strict Secrecy Imperative

The Georgian said that the necessity for secrecy was so great that testimony concerning the weapon, taken in executive session, had been excluded from even the committee's private records.

The authorization measure itself provided for broad expansion of naval aviation training facilities designed to turn out 2,500 aviators a month, and development of present and new naval outposts as bases for operation against the enemy.

Candidate Held On Sedition Charge

Details of the charge were not immediately available.

Gottschalk Signs Up, War May Soon End

CAMP UPTON, N. Y., July 22. (AP)—The boys listened for news of the end of the war today as Hugo Gottschalk, 42, entered the army.

The last time Gottschalk entered military service the war was over two hours after he arrived in camp. It was the German army and the date was November 11, 1918.

States and Allied Nations lack rubber. The new development was reported by the Berlin radio in a dispatch dated Shonan, the new Japanese name for Singapore, which lies at the tip of the rubber-producing Malay peninsula.

"After months of continuous study and research," the dispatch said, "enterprising Japanese scientists have produced motor fuel from rubber. Recent trial tests made with this substitute fuel revealed it is highly efficient. Motor cars using the new fuel are able to cover twenty-five per cent greater distance than cars using ordinary gasoline."

Million Germans Storm Approaches to Caucasus And Rich Volga Section

Invaders Drive Deep Wedge between Rostov and Stalingrad; Russians Reported Gaining Ground around Voronezh; Moscow Reports 1,300 Germans Killed in Fierce Battles

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, Thursday, July 23. (AP)—The million-man German army pounding at the Caucasus and the Volga has driven a deep wedge roughly half-way between Rostov and Stalingrad and the sorely-pressed Russians have fallen back on the outer defenses of Rostov for a finish fight, the Russians indicated officially early today.

While Russian soldiers were reported gaining ground in their offensive around Voronezh, the midnight communiqué acknowledged that the Red armies in the deep south were fighting in the areas of Tsimlyansk, near the Don about 130 miles northeast of Rostov and about 120 miles southwest of Stalingrad, and in the Novochoerkassk area just about twenty miles outside Rostov proper.

Tsimlyansk is about sixty miles east of the Donets river and is just above the Don near where that great waterway makes its westward sweep toward the Black Sea.

Novochoerkassk is on the Rostov-Moscow railroad and on a tributary of the Don river.

1,300 GERMANS KILLED

"Our troops fought fierce battles in the area of Novochoerkassk," the midnight communiqué said. "On another sector our men during two days fought fierce battles with numerically superior enemy forces. In these battles the Germans lost more than 1,300 men and officers killed."

The Russians said their troops also suffered considerable losses and withdrew to new positions.

("The area of the second sector mentioned above was not given; thus the extent of the withdrawal was not indicated but it apparently referred to the entire action around Novochoerkassk, where the fighting was centered at latest reports.")

In the Voronezh sector some 250 miles north of the critical Rostov area, the Russians announced, their soldiers captured a populated plane straddling a highway and continued to advance in an offensive which apparently hopes to bring some relief to the armies of the deep south.

Fighting Near Voronezh

During yesterday, the communiqué added, fifteen enemy tanks were destroyed and about 2,000 men were killed in the Voronezh fighting.

It was an hour of utmost gravity in the south. The Red army organ, Red Star, said frankly: "Terrible days face the country." It called upon the fighting men of Russia to emulate the example of the twenty-eight Red soldiers who, in the defense of Moscow last winter, died fighting a tank charge with little more than their bare hands.

The nation was summoning all its strength to the front, soldiers with newly-sewn wound stripes, introduced only last week, were appearing in the battle line.

Soviet air strength in the south was reported increasing, storming the tanks and infantry with which the Germans were reinforcing their columns and raiding airbases as the invaders pushed forward.

Rostov, Stalingrad Important The loss of either Rostov or Stalingrad would be a tragic blow, but the loss of communications which they control would be far worse.

The fall of Stalingrad would mean severance of northern and southern armies and breakage of the Volga lifeline to Caspian Sea and east Caucasian oil pools.

The loss of Rostov with the present battle southwest of Millerovo would practically isolate the Red army of the west Caucasus.

Such a predicament carries some implications for Russians. But in

Bethlehem To Pay Wage Increase, But Sees Harm to U. S. War Effort

NEW YORK, July 22. (AP)—The Bethlehem Steel Company today said that it would comply with the national War Labor Board's order granting a pay raise to its steel workers but asserted that the result would be harmful to the national economy and the war effort.

The WLB last Thursday formally ordered a wage increase of forty-four cents a day for 157,000 employees of the "Little Steel" companies and established a national wage stabilization policy designed to maintain labor purchasing power at the levels of January, 1941.

Eugene G. Grace, Bethlehem Company president, in a letter informing the board his firm would put the wage raise order into effect, said:

"In informing you, however, of our intention to comply with your order, I desire to make it clear to you that it is still our opinion that, for reasons that were set forth at length in the statements and brief which we filed with you and which were briefly set forth in the statement which I submitted to you on July 1, 1942, your orders ignore the basic principles upon which our government was founded and the results of them will be harmful to our national economy and to the war effort."

The other "Little Steel" companies involved in the board's order were the Republic Steel Corporation, the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company and Inland Steel Company.

Higgins Company Fails To Secure Shipping Contract

Maritime Commission Refuses To Rescind Cancellation Order

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—The Maritime Commission refused today to rescind its cancellation of the Higgins Shipbuilding Corporation's 200-ship contract, while two more Congressional investigations of the controversial situation were projected.

Andrew J. Higgins of New Orleans, head of the firm, spent a futile hour before the commission this morning and another hour at the White House. After hearing Higgins the commissioners went into a long huddle and came out with this statement:

"The Maritime Commission today gave a hearing to Andrew J. Higgins and has further carefully considered the matter of cancellation of the Higgins contract.

"The commission regrets that in the face of available facts it cannot rescind the action taken on July 18."

At that time the commission explained that the Higgins yards would not reach maximum production until 1943 and that the available steel could be used to better advantage by other yards already in full operation. Higgins voiced dissatisfaction with this explanation, however, and indicated he thought that other factors were involved.

Senate Probe Planned

The Senate Defense Investigating committee headed by Senator Truman (D-Mo) announced that it would inquire into the Higgins contract situation, the proposal of Higgins and Henry J. Kaiser, shipbuilder of Portland, Ore., to build giant cargo planes, and the availability of steel. The steel hearings are to start Aug. 6.

In the House the Merchant Marine committee, which yesterday named a subcommittee to study the Higgins situation, delegated a second subcommittee today to look into the "alleged shortage of steel for shipbuilding." The group also was instructed to study other relevant matters "pertinent to the proper prosecution of the war."

Rep. Boykin (D-Ala) was named chairman.

ship. The captain was hit in the arm but the other three were unhurt.

Thirty-five other men in the crew rowed away in two lifeboats and reached Devil's Island, French Guiana. Rather than face internment there, they escaped and pushed on to Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana.

The American vessel, torpedoed about 650 miles off the Atlantic coast, June 28, was sent to the bottom with the loss of nineteen of her thirty-seven-man crew. The thirty-eight seamen who were rescued after drifting for nineteen days aboard lifeboats, said that Miles Nelkin, a 25-year-old able bodied seaman, was responsible for their escape. Survivors said Nelkin released the lifeboats while the vessel was under attack, and in so doing lost his life.

Fished Food from Sea

The rescued crewmen related that they fished onions and potatoes out of the water to supplement their supply of biscuits, improvised a small snack out of the floating wreckage for protection against the sun and carefully saved rain water to conserve their original small supply.

Two torpedoes sank the British merchantman in the Caribbean May 28, her thirty-two survivors reported on landing at a gulf coast port. Sixteen crew members were killed in the attack. Gunners aboard said there was no opportunity to fire, since the submarine remained submerged.

the support of the public in this matter," the governor said.

Curran backed O'Connor in his primary fight with Jackson four years ago.

The governor said he had agreed with Curran and Jackson on "certain persons" who had agreed to run for the assembly, but he did not disclose their identities.

The persons agreed upon are expected to file their candidacies within a few days, O'Connor continued.

"The results of today's conference will be manifest within these filings take place," the governor said, "and we are confident the public will be gratified at the developments."

Reported Selections

The Evening Sun reported that coalition selections were:

Frank J. Bauer, a member of the mayor's secretariat staff, to run against State Senator John Pat Fehley of the first legislative district.

Stephen P. Campbell, attorney and nephew of a former president of the State Senate, to run in the second legislative district against State Senator John G. Callan.

Prior to the meeting, the governor and mayor had listed for more than an hour to spokesmen from labor organizations urging that they be permitted to participate in the drafting of the non-partisan slate for the State Senate and the House of Delegates.

Senate Paves Way for Synthetic Rubber Made from Grain Alcohol

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—Brushing aside administration opposition, the Senate passed today a measure to create an independent agency for the production of synthetic rubber from grain alcohol.

Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky complained that the bill would deprive the War Production Board of control over much of the rubber program and declared that if it should be passed by the House, "I should hope fervently that the president would disapprove it."

Barkley's Plea Fails

Barkley's plea found no echo among his colleagues, however, and the measure passed without a record vote.

Barkley said he felt duty-bound to report WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson's warning to the agriculture committee that it would be a "rash act" to build new rubber production facilities with critical materials needed for airplanes, tanks and guns.

Sensors Thomas (D-Okla.) and Gillette (D-Iowa), chief spokesmen for the bill, charged that the WPB program calling for 800,000 tons of synthetic rubber per year was largely based on "untried laboratory experiments" with petroleum.

The bill, which goes to the House tomorrow, provides for an agency empowered to conduct research, enter into contracts and lend money to encourage manufacture of rubber from products of the farm and forest.

Rubber for Civilians

The agency's director would be charged with producing enough synthetic rubber so that the total supply from all sources would be sufficient to meet civilian as well as military needs.

Barkley pointed out that the 800,000 tons projected for next year included 200,000 tons of synthetic rubber from alcohol and said the bill would take from Nelson "responsibility for this production."

Gillette asserted the bill was intended to clarify the rubber production program, which he said was in a state of "indescribable confusion."

War Production Curtailed by Work Stoppages

Disputes Cost 254,653 Man Days in June, Report Reveals

(By The Associated Press)

Work stoppages due to labor disputes cost 254,653 "man-days" of war production in June, an increase of 117,353 days over May, the War Labor Board reported yesterday (Wednesday). The time lost in June was 99 percent of the total war work done, compared with .06 percent in May.

Two current strikes which had hampered war production were settled during the day while a proposed walkout of 22,000 AFL building trades workers in New York on $10,000,000 of navy projects was postponed pending negotiations in Washington.

The General Motors tank arsenal at Grand Blanc, Mich., idle a week when a strike followed the layoff of fifty workmen for smoking, resumed production after a settlement of grievances was reached. The smoking issue was left for later settlement.

Striking AFL truck drivers in St. Louis began delivering materials to war plants at the request of army officers, relieving critical shortages which had developed at many factories. Some 3,000 drivers struck over demands for a $6 a week increase over the old scale of $30 to $40 for a forty-eight hour week. William Ryan, president of the teamsters and chauffeurs local, said the strike was unauthorized.

A. L. Rogers Stresses Usefulness of Men over 40 on the Home Front

The usefulness of "men over forty" as artists, minute men and civilian defense workers and the necessity of the individual to use his wits to protect the home front was stressed by Albert L. Rogers, who was the principal speaker yesterday at the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Cumberland Lions Club in the Central Y.M.C.A. Rogers is instructor of the United States Aviation Cadet "refresher" course being conducted in Fort Hill high school under the joint sponsorship of the B. P. O. Elks lodges of Frostburg and Cumberland and the Allegany County Board of Education.

It was recalled that Dice and Kehoe formerly managed stores for the same firm in Barre and Rutland, Vt.

When Prince Al'Raschid Takes A Wife He Insists She Is His

NEW YORK, July 22, (AP)—Prince Mohammed Al'Raschid, self-styled "descendant of the Prophet Mohammed," insisted in court today that the wife of a telegraph operator really belonged to him because he had written it down in his "sacred, religious book."

"If any man interferes I have the right to kill him under Mohammedan law," the prince declared, explaining why a policeman had found him beating the operator, James C. Handy, with a cane.

"Mohammedan marriage is thus First she says 'I give all my love.' Then I say 'I give you all my love.' Then I write it down in my sacred religious book and nobody can ever separate us for eternity."

He said that it appeared possible to grant the rubber industry the crude rubber needed in the industry plan, but that it would not be possible to allow the 97,420 tons of re-claimed rubber also asked.

He told the press conference that he could not comment on the rubber industry's plan until he had studied it, that a "policy decision" must be made on allocating the requested amount of re-claimed rubber, and on "whether we can spare" the crude rubber.

Moscow tonight, the men and women who have survived civil war, foreign intervention and famine were unanimous in saying with supreme confidence that Russia would survive this crisis.

The Red army's courageous counter-attacks at Voronezh, 250 miles above the southern battle areas on the upper Don, was helpful—but not enough to offset the impending peril to Rostov, Stalingrad and the Volga. At Voronezh, the Red army, which already has deprived the Nazis of four Don river crossings, was moving rapidly to isolate the still-larger German force which was in a precarious position between the Don and the city.

British Clamor

Most of the city is north of the Don, however, and thus it would be difficult to defend if the main armies are across the river.

The German columns approaching Rostov have failed to cut off any large bodies of Soviet troops, these sources said. They added that Timoshenko's ability to keep his armies intact is of primary importance to the Allies.

Six Months Term For Stealing Timber Is Suspended

A suspended sentence of six months in the Maryland House of Correction was imposed on Thomas Gordon, near Rawlings, when he was tried in trial magistrate's court yesterday morning on a charge of stealing timber from Conrad J. Roby, a farmer, Gordon was paroled for a period of one year.

Roby's hired man had deposited the timber at the side of a woodland road after his truck broke down. Returning for the load after the truck had been repaired, the hired man said he found Gordon negotiating sale of the timber to a Pennsylvania trucker.

Gordon's parole is conditional upon his staying away from the property of neighboring farmers.

the first two months after the plan goes into effect or from July 22 to September 22. Coupons on the following sheets are numbered "A-2" and "A-3", etc., and will be good for succeeding two month periods.

Coupons may be accumulated within the several periods but unused coupons are void after the period for which they were issued is over.

On the outside of the front cover, the book carries a description of the car for which the book is issued, as well as the name and address of the owner. Service station attendants are directed to honor the book only for gasoline delivered into the tank of the car described on the book.

Do Not Tear Out Coupons

Instructions appearing inside the front cover warns holders against tearing out the coupons and presenting them loose at service stations. The attendant is expected to detach the coupons himself, to make sure that the coupons were issued for the car that he is serving.

Other coupon books in use resemble the "A" book, except in color of the printing and number of coupons.

"A" books, printed in black, are available to every registered automobile owner. "B" and "C" books, which provide supplemental rations, are printed in green and red, respectively. "D" books, which are for motorcycles are blue; "S" books for trucks, buses, etc., are brown, and "E" and "F" books, for non-highway uses, are orange and purple, respectively.

Supplemental Ration

Barnard explained that a car owner who needs his car in his work may find that an "A" book, which he obtained when he registered, does not meet his requirements. He may apply for a supplemental ration through his employer. The board then will determine if the applicant is entitled to any supplemental ration, and if so whether it should be in the form of a "B" or "C" book. No applicant may receive both.

The "B" book, issued for necessary vocational use, contains sixteen coupons. These sixteen coupons will have to last the applicant at least three months (July 22 to October 22). If he does not need sixteen coupons worth of gasoline to meet his requirements in three months, the board will extend the period so that the sixteen coupons will last him a longer time. Thus, by a simple adjustment of the date of expiration, a "B" book can be tailored to the driving needs of any person.

A "C" coupon can be issued only for vehicles proving occupational needs greater than can be met by the maximum "B" allowance, in addition to the "A" ration. Also, the applicant must belong to a certain category of essential drivers in order to be eligible for "C" books. Among the services for which such rations are issued are medical care, maintenance of public utilities, carrying farm labor, giving religious comfort or assistance, and making official trips on government business.

Contains 96 Coupons

The "C" book contains ninety-six coupons, and is issued for three months in all cases. But if the applicant cannot show need for the complete book, the board may tailor the ration by tearing out surplus coupons. It may also issue more than one "C" book at a time, if necessary.

Motorcycles will be issued "D" books as a basic ration, and one or more "D" books as a supplemental ration. Each book will be good for one year, and coupons will be torn out to tailor any supplemental ration to the applicant's need. Each "D" coupon will be worth forty per cent of the gallonage value of the "A" coupon.

Training School For Baptists Is Discussed

Evening Classes Will Be Recommended at Sunday School Meeting

An association — wide training school for all Sunday school workers will be recommended by the Advisory Board of the Western District Baptist Sunday School Association at the September meeting of the association.

Two plans will be presented, either to have a separate school in each church, or one for the three churches of Garrett county, one in Westernport, one in Frostburg for the two Frostburg churches, one for the Eckhart church and one in Cumberland for the three churches here.

The course would be held sometime in October and comprise a week of study for all Sunday school workers, in two and a half hour sessions each evening.

The school was discussed at the meeting of the Advisory Board Monday evening in the First English Baptist church, Frostburg.

Plans were also made for the quarterly meeting to be held September 21 at the Grace Baptist church, Cumberland, and F. Earl Kreitzburg, Frostburg, was elected to be in charge of the meeting.

A feature of this meeting will be departmental conferences led by associational department superintendents. A short devotional will precede the meeting.

Various phases of the work of the association were also discussed.

Frostburg Control Center To Proceed With Celebration

Labor Day Program Will Not Interfere with UMW of A, Dye Declares

FROSTBURG, July 22 — Frostburg's Civilian Defense Control Center's arrangements for a Labor day celebration for the benefit of the control center will in no way conflict with plans of the United Mine Workers of America, Lindley Dye, officer of District 16, United Mine Workers, advised George Albright, chairman of the program, today.

Dye, in a letter to Albright, stated that the union members at a recent meeting had decided to call off the annual celebration and stated that any plans the local control center may make will in no way conflict with the union.

The letter was written, Dye said, to clear confusion that has arisen in the community that the defense celebration will interfere with the annual celebration sponsored by the United Mine Workers of America.

Albright said recent reports have placed the control center in a "bad light" in the community after the announcement that a parade and all-day picnic would be held in Frostburg on Labor day for the benefit of the control center.

Following the receipt of the letter, Albright stated that a meeting would be held in Frostburg to complete arrangements of the celebration. Present plans call for an all-day picnic to be held in J. O. U. A. M. park, Frostburg and a mammoth parade in the evening.

Participating in the parade, Albright said will be all of the community defense units as well as neighborhood units which are under the Frostburg Control center.

The committee under Frostburg's jurisdiction are Mr. Savage, Eckhart, Middleton, Carlos, Shaft, Borden, Zuhlen, Grahamtown, Vale Summit, and Clarysville.

Abandonment

would bring additional passenger traffic on the branch railroad, he predicted, and said that if the service were abandoned it would create "a bottleneck for the transportation of workers in defense industries in that area."

Cumberland particularly would be affected, O'Rourke told the commission, because of its expanding industries and because of the lack of housing facilities for more workers in Cumberland itself.

Claus contended the bus lines which serve the same towns as the railroad had room for additional passengers. The bus service, he continued, was on an hourly basis and in some ways would provide a "more convenient" form of transportation to the residents.

Operating at Loss

Claus told the commission the passenger operations showed an average loss of $6,000 a year in the past ten years. He said expenses in this phase of the railroad's business were $266,742 and revenue $185,907 from Jan. 1, 1932 to Dec. 31, 1941.

Claus said the number of passengers had increased in the past few months but that double the present total would have to be carried to meet expenses.

Petitions signed by 600 persons opposing the move were filed with the commission which took the matter under advisement.

Some Ways of Treating Constipation May Prove Injurious, Doctor Says

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

It will be evident from reading the two preceding articles this week that there is no single method of treating chronic constipation. The greatest difficulty in most cases is persuading people that the condition is not doing them any harm. In this connection the relatives can cause as much trouble as anything else.

I have heard the story of a woman who came to a doctor for constipation which he found was not causing her any distress and he asked her why she was wasting her time and money in his office. Her answer was that she hadn't wanted to come but her mother and sister had upbraided her so much that she had come in self-defense. So the physician wrote her out the following certificate:

"To whom it may concern: Miss Blank is to be permitted to be constipated as long as she pleases."

Patient Delighted

This delighted the patient and she had it framed and put on the bathroom wall where her mother and sister could see it every day.

Two other important things to get over are the fear of auto-intoxication and the habit of taking cathartics. They both have the same origin—fear—and this is kept alive by suggestions such as institutes that give "internal baths" and pictures of sufferers who get up with a terrible headache in the morning "before" and then jump around and race to the office, full of vim and vigor "after" getting the auto-intoxication cured.

May Be Dangerous

In my experience enemas are often more dangerous than cathartics. I have seen a number of patients with the enema habit who had managed to infect the mucosa of the bowel so that they were really sick. As to colonic flushings, it is a literal fact that the high enema never gets the entire colon cleaned out—in fact, it never gets much further than the first twelve inches.

The ingenuity of many thousands of members of the human race has been used in trying to get a colon tube that will get past the sigmoid colon; the farthest that anyone has gotten is twelve inches. The rest of them simply curl up in the first few inches.

Non-Irritant Cathartic

If a cathartic is to be taken, the safest is liquid petrolatum. It has no irritating qualities such as salines and the vegetable cathartics, such as aloes. It actually produces peristaltic movements and does not produce a habit because tolerance is not formed. The only objection to the use of liquid petrolatum is that it prevents the absorption of some of the vitamins.

Curtis and Horton, of the University of Michigan, have shown that amounts of liquid petrolatum as small as fifteen to thirty c. c. are able to remove all the carotene from a normal diet if the oil comes into contact with food containing carotene. Even this objection, however, is not serious if the drug is used only once or twice a week.

Questions and Answers

L. E.—Please tell me whether or not a fibrous tumor is or ever can be cancerous.

Answer: Any time, or in fact any tissues can turn into any other kind of tissue, including cancerous tissue, but strictly speaking, a fibrous tumor remains a fibrous tumor. Change from a fibrous tumor to cancer is quite rare. The only thing that need concern you is whether the diagnosis of fibrous tumor is correct.

N. C.—Are certain foods the cause of high blood pressure? If so, what are some of the foods? Will high blood pressure be cured if one stops eating these foods?

Answer: In my opinion foods do not have anything to do with the cause of high blood pressure nor will any particular diet cure or influence high blood pressure.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE —

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Ready to Go

The liver should pour 2 pints of bile (juice) into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Then you have to take up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sick and the world looks pink.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Take as directed. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills, 10c and 25c.

CHAPTER THIRTY-FOUR

SUDDENLY Dian wanted to go home, wanted to leave the party. For some strange reason all her enthusiasm had left her. The whole business seemed ridiculously futile—this business of playing around with Claire Lester and her two would-be husbands. "I'm surprised that you suggested leaving the club so early."

"I got tired of being stared at," said Claire. "I thought we'd end the party by driving out to the Wayside inn for some dancing. It's gay there, and different."

"Different, all right," said Dian, "but I'm afraid I'll have to ask you to excuse me. I've got a big day before me. I'm going to drive out to the farm and start cataloging Grandfather's books. I have a list of books that are worth quite a lot—and may be able to find some thing really valuable in the library out there."

"This," said Claire, "is a fine time to spring that on us. Good heavens, Dian—don't be a wet blanket."

"Sorry," Dian said. "But that's how things are. There's no reason why you and the boys can't go out to the Wayside. Or you can easily pick up some other girl to make a fourth: Sue Morton or Lucy Lee Randall."

"Sticks—both of them," said Claire, but actually she was pleased over Dian's decision not to go on. Dian had, she thought, ceased to be a mere part of a foursome, and had assumed the proportions of a real rival. "Very well," she said, "we'll drop you off at your house. Then we'll drive back to the club and get either Sue or Lucy Lee."

"Must we?" said Paul.

"Unless," said Claire, "you and Bill want to share me."

"Why not let me out at the Ardendale inn," said Bill, "and you and Paul go on alone?"

"Are you trying to be magnanimous or something?" Claire asked.

"I worked like the devil planning this party, and I think it's downright discourteous and cruel of you all to start backing out."

"I'm not backing out," said Bill. "I'm only trying to be well—call it magnanimous, if you like."

"It's still early," said Claire, "and I feel like having fun. I'd hate to have my party end in a sort of washout."

"There, there, honey, it won't," said Paul gently. "We'll keep going until dawn—if you like. How about it, Bill?"

"Okay," said Bill. "Do we get another girl—or no?"

"Yes," said Paul. "I refuse to sit watching you dance with Claire while I twirl my thumbs."

Bill spoke to Dian then. "Sure you won't change your mind and come along with us?"

"Thanks, Bill," Dian said. "But I'd rather not." She caught herself before saying, "I'm fed up." She smiled at him rather vaguely. "As a matter of fact, I feel a bit head-achish."

"For Pete's sake," said Claire, "don't pull that old feminine trick! The next thing's a sprained ankle. Women have been pulling them for ages."

"You should know," said Dian—feeling that she no longer gave a darn about being polite.

They drove on in silence. Bill got out of the car when it came to a standstill in front of Dian's house. He went up the walk with Dian. He stood for a moment upon the lower step of the porch, looking up at her.

"Anything really wrong?" he asked solicitously.

Dian shook her head. "No," she said, "I'm just tired. Really I am."

She held out her hand. "Good night, and thanks for being so nice to Aunt Martha and me."

"Thanks are quite unnecessary," Bill said rather stiffly. This sudden formality on Dian's part annoyed him. "I hope you have a pleasant time cataloging your Grandfather's books," he added with just a touch of sarcasm.

Then he turned and went back to the car.

Dian stood watching until the car was out of sight, and then she walked to the end of the porch. There, in the darkness, hidden by the thick vines which grew in wild abandon, she sank into the porch swing. She ran her hand somewhat wearily across her forehead, and leaned back against the bright cushions.

She could understand Paul's attitude where Claire was concerned, since he had idolized her ever since they were kids. But she couldn't understand Bill Rollins acting as he did. Surely he ought to see through Claire—ought to realize what sort of girl she was, by this time. A man of 32 ought to have more sense! She thought—not knowing, of course, that Bill had said exactly the same thing that evening while dancing with Claire. "I'm an absolute little fool," Dian told herself. "I'm sorry I ever threw that damned shoe. I should have known that anything on earth I did would turn out a mess. I should have encouraged Jerome, as Aunt Martha wanted me to, and got myself a job of married housekeeper to a banker." She sighed and closed her eyes. How beautifully peaceful it was there on the porch, with sleepy sparrows twittering close by, and the air soft and balmy and perfumed.

She must have dozed off for a few moments, for presently she was aware of voices. She sat up, listening. Then she realized that the voices belonged to her Aunt Martha and Jerome Carr.

—and I'm glad to see," Jerome was saying. "That Dian doesn't seem to be too much upset over Fred Mayhew's actions."

"Of course she's not upset!" Aunt Martha said loyally. "She never really loved the man. I know that now."

Dian was uncomfortable. She didn't like being an eavesdropper, intentionally or otherwise. She stirred, deciding to get up and make her presence known. But something Jerome said stopped her.

"You know, of course, Martha," he said, "that Dian's got the idea you're the woman for me."

"Fiddleticks!" said Miss Martha. "Don't pay any attention to her. She's talking through her hat. You know perfectly well, Jerome, that you've been in love with Dian for years—and have been hoping she'd marry you."

"I wonder."

"I wonder if I have been in love with Dian all these years. I mean, maybe I've just been thinking all the time of how ornamental she'd look in my house."

Jerome Carr, have you gone raving, stark crazy?" Miss Martha gasped.

"Maybe it's just the other way around," Jerome said thoughtfully. "Maybe I've just come to my senses."

Children Can Be Taught To Treat Books with Care

Early Training Lays Good Foundation for Habits of Concentration

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

The little child gets great pleasure from merely turning the leaves of a book. Observing his joy at doing so, many parents will put into his hands a volume considered of no value, or they will give him a linen book too strong for him to tear.

He is not likely to learn to be careful with these books. When he gets hold of a valuable volume he will exercise his old habits. He probably will tear the book. He has no way of appreciating its value; if he had, he has acquired no urge to be careful.

Teach the child to handle a book as you would teach him to use crayons, pencils and other things. Always be with him while he is with the book until the book is safe with him alone. Such teaching takes a lot of time. Make a place for the necessary time in your budget and your patience.

Lesson in Carefulness

Beginning with the very young child, choose a beautiful book, one with attractive pictures and with but little reading matter to the page. Have the child on your knee or close beside you. Pick up the book slowly and carefully and open it with slow movements. As you do so, say "C-a-r-e-f-u-l." If he grabs at the book or tugs roughly at the leaves or cover, gently restrain his little hands saying softly, "Wait, careful."

When he shows the first sign of waiting and of careful movements smile and speak with generous approval. Once you have read all from the first page and he turns it carefully, praise him warmly. It was a great achievement. Persuade him to wait until you have read from both pages, each with a picture on it. Nursery rhymes or brief legends will be on every page, but not much of either. If he keeps on turning as he pleases, or turns to some picture farther on, he has had bad training. His learning to wait is very valuable to him. If he is restless, wishing to get down, let him do so and put the book away.

Concentration

Next time he wants to see the book get the same one and proceed as you did before. This early training lays a good foundation for habits of concentration, and prepares him to enjoy being read to for prolonged periods of time.

The words he hears associated with the pictures which he looks at are coordinated in his mind and the fascinating activity of turning the pages, with approval of his doing well, all conspire to make the book more and more an object of his tenderest affection. It takes on a kind of human personality.

Solving Parent Problems

Q It is wise for parents, at considerable sacrifice, to have the son or daughter away from home at college or at work, mail home his or her laundry to be done there and mailed back.

A It is rarely wise, I believe. Even if a laundress is employed at home, the practice encourages dependence. Very few who have enough money to go to college, and still fewer who are working for a wage, are unable to pay their own laundry bill. The rank and file of young women who send their laundry home are only parasites on over-indulgent parents.

TODAY'S VICTORY GARDEN-GRAPH

By DEAN HALLIDAY

BUSH FRUITS FOR VICTORY GARDENS

Gooseberries, delicious for pie, jam and jellies, are easy to grow, very productive and extremely hardy. The one difficulty they present is mildew, but if the shrubs are sprayed this can easily be overcome. The American varieties are not as subject to mildew as the European.

As shown in the drawing, gooseberries can be propagated by what is known as "mount layering." The parent plant is cut back severely to within a few inches of the ground. This encourages the formation of numerous vigorous shoots. In mid-summer pile a mound of rich, sandy soil over the stumps. In a little while the stumps will begin to grow, forming new rootlets at the nodes. The following spring, if the shoots have not responded with good root growth, wait another year before separating them.

NEW YORK, July 22—Boxing in broadcast, a subject that hasn't yet had much summer attention on the networks, will sort of do a comeback on MBS Thursday night. It is due to the fact that Tami Mauriello and Red Burman are scheduled for a New York battle in the heavyweight classification as Don Dunphy and Bill Corum tell about it from 10 o'clock on.

The United States Army Air Forces Military Band, the first such organization, is to make its first appearance on NBC at 1:15 p. m.

War Calls Come First

Great quantities of critical materials are needed for ships and weapons with which to fight and win the war. That is why we can no longer continue to expand telephone facilities as we have in the past.

Local and long distance calls however continue to grow—so we ask for your help in getting important war messages through without delays. Thank you.

Please...

- ★ Reduce, insofar as you can, your long distance calls not related to the war effort to places more than 100 miles away.
- ★ If you must make a long distance call, make it in the off-peak hours—12 Noon to 2 P.M., 5 to 7 P.M., 10 P.M. to 9 A.M.

INTERPRETING THE WAR NEWS

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
AP Staff Writer

The gravity of the situation in Russia is underscored by the Nazis' boasts that they have crossed the lower Don on a wide front east of the Donets confluence.

If that is true, Marshal Timoshenko's position on the left flank of his 300 mile Don battle front is critical. A Nazi surge westward along the left bank of the Don could force a precipitate Russian retreat from the whole northwestern sector of the Caucasus to escape encirclement.

Timoshenko's main reliance for its defense is the widening lower Don below the Donets confluence to the sea of Azov that ninety mile span of the Don, with its multiple mouths west of Rostov, forms the strongest natural barrier to mechanized attack discernible on the while 2,000 mile Nazi-Russian front.

Vital Points in Peril

The Germans claim to have breached the Don narrows higher up above the Donets juncture seventy miles east of Rostov indicates an attempt to out-flank the main Red defenses of the Caucasus before Timoshenko's troops had even settled down behind that barrier for a last stand. Not only Rostov, on the right bank of the river, but access to the system of railroads highways and pipelines that lead up from the south to cross the Don at that point is in imminent peril. The situation is no more bright eastward. A Nazi surge up the left bank on the Don from the claimed crossings would carry them to the Voiga southeast of Stalingrad and mean a complete rupture between Russian forces in the Caucasus and those driven behind the lower Voiga with their flank on the Caspian. That now appears the major design of the German offensive, and it is terribly close to realization.

Many Details Lacking

Because many details are lacking it is almost impossible to trace the battlefront on the lower Don, or to gauge the extent of Russian peril, although Moscow admits it is great. It seems possible that what the Germans call a Red collapse in the Rostov sector is in fact the beginning of a Russian evacuation of the right bank of the Don at that point, including the main portion of Rostov city itself which lies on that (north) bank.

The Don moat, from the Donets confluence to the Sea of Azov, and the water hazard extending to the narrow Kerch strait which separates the Caucasus and the Crimea, is the prime Russian defense front for the Caucasus. The fall of Rostov would impair it, but not necessarily mean its collapse.

That is not true of the Donets-Konstantinovskaya gateway to the Caucasus. If the Germans have broken through it in force, the plight of the Russians on the southern end of the Don front is critical beyond words. Neither Russian counter attacks far up the Don in the Voronezh-Don wedge, or even a limited Anglo-American second-front diversion, could greatly affect the lower Don situation soon enough. Timoshenko must halt that thrust himself if it is to be halted.

R. J. Funkhouser Is Campaigning Along Ohio River

Nominee for Senate Says Businessmen Needed in Congress

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., July 22.—Starting into the last two weeks of pre-primary campaigning, Raymond J. Funkhouser, of Shepherdstown, Republican candidate for the United States Senate, will spend most of this present week in the counties bordering the Ohio river. After being in Wheeling, he went to Clarksburg Wednesday to confer with community and political leaders. Thursday he is scheduled to be in Wetzel, Tyler, and Wood Counties; all of them along the Ohio River. Later in the week he will be in Mason, Jackson, and Cabell Counties.

"While Governor Neely is trying to decide whether to be a senator or governor, the people of West Virginia were deciding they are becoming tired of the chief executive's antics in trying to emulate the late Huey Long," Funkhouser said in statement.

"If we continue our policies of regimentation, we are lost even though we win the war. Action must be taken this year to place in Congress men who will assert themselves and not by merely rubber stamps as are those serving in Hitler's Reichstag," he said.

"To have an able Congress in power, the people must elect men of proved ability and those with business training," he added. "The United States is the world's largest corporation with the Congress serving as a board of directors. It is not logical therefore that men with successful business experience be placed on that 'board of directors'."

Actor Walter Pidgeon
Enjoys Popularity

Walter Pidgeon's ears must burn most of the time. It's easier to find a needle in a haystack than a man, woman or child who hasn't a good word for him. The admiration for him as an actor is only exceeded by his popularity as a person.

One of the many reasons seems to be that nothing, apparently, can change Pidgeon. Failure didn't over a period of years when he was getting nowhere fast. The success he is now enjoying in bountiful measure hasn't, either.

With "Mrs. Miniver," which is now appearing at the Maryland theater, Pidgeon rounds out his banner year, clicking one after the other in such class pictures as "Blossoms in the Dust," "How Green Was My Valley," "Design for Scandal" and "Man Hunt." That's five pictures in twelve months, and producers are clamoring for Pidgeon's services.

"I don't understand it," Pidgeon said, "but I'm grateful. This is a great business. I like it. But no matter what the future holds for me, I'll feel that I've had all the luck I was entitled to, with no kick coming."

Brooklyn Honored
In Baseball Movie

The borough of Brooklyn, honored in a Twentieth Century-Fox movie, had a great deal to do with writing the story of the film according to Producer Walter Morosco.

"Our story, of course, is fictional," he declared, speaking of "It Happened in Flatbush," now at the Strand theater, "but many of its sequences can be traced to famous stories about Brooklyn and its baseball-mad citizenry."

Chief among them is a sequence in which the team returns from a successful tour, and is greeted by fans in an unprecedented demonstration.

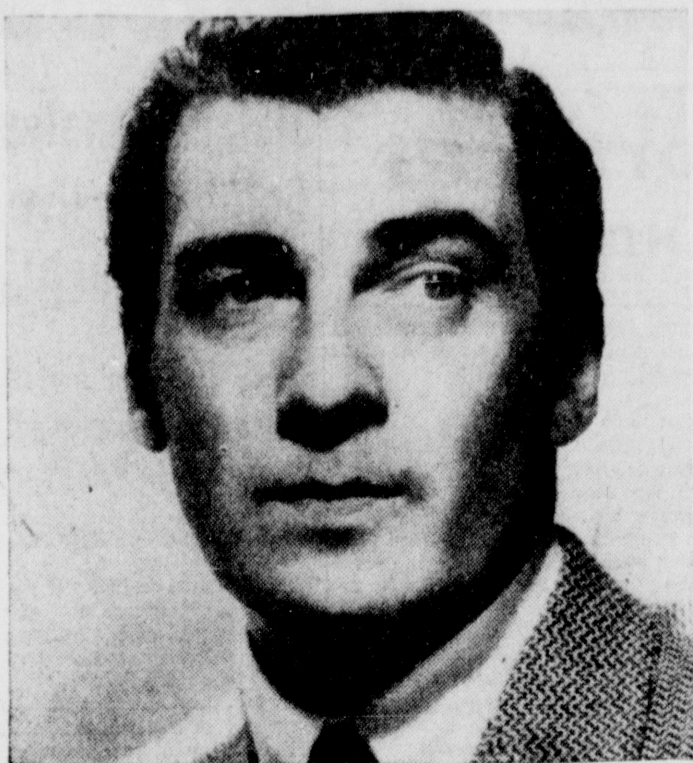

This happened last year when the Brooklyn Dodgers swept to the National League pennant. Schools were closed and Brooklyn's streets were jammed to capacity with enthusiastic rooters.

In the film, baseball fans will be drinking soda pop from paper cups, not from bottles; this is a rule at Ebbets Field as protection for umpires against fans who have a habit of throwing things. Paper cups don't hurt as much as bottles.

Rural Speech Found
Origin in Early Days

In "Sis Hopkins," Republic picture opening today at the Embassy theater, Judy Canova's rich relations snub her because of her backwoods crudities, including her so-called "illiterate" speech. Yet Judy's "speech" can be traced to the English of Chaucer and Shakespeare! This is vouched for by Mrs. May Kennedy McCord of Springfield, Mo., a lifelong student of Ozark mountain customs who has prepared recordings of Ozarkian ballads and dialect for the Library of Congress and is recognized as an authority on backwoods lore.

The dialogue in "Sis Hopkins" is an uncorrupted form of English mountaineers have retained from which the Ozark hillfolk and early Anglo-Saxon ancestors.

"Many of Judy's quaint expressions like 'I set up all night for I set up all night,' 'scrunching chinchies' for 'killing bugs,' 'I bought a poke of eggs' for 'I bought a basket of eggs,' and 'She's uppity' for 'She's highbrow,' come direct from the pages of Chaucer and Shakespeare," Mrs. McCord stated.

"It must be remembered that the people who inhabit the Ozarks are genuine descendants of the Anglo-Saxon immigrants who came to America several centuries ago. They first settled in the Carolinas, then migrated westward to Tennessee and eventually made their way into the rugged, though picturesque, Ozarks. There has been very little intermarriage, in fact, hardly any at all. The Ozark mountaineers have resisted modern civilization. They are

"Here Comes Mr. Jordan"
Director Gets Bird

Ever since Director Alexander Hall started his turkey ranch, five years ago, he has been trying to get the birds in pictures.

To date, his nearest approach to success came during the filming of Columbia's "Here Comes Mr. Jordan," which stars Robert Montgomery at the Garden theater, when the company shot across the road from his Santa Susanna ranch. However, not a single turkey showed in the film.

Now, however, Hall is on the high road to realizing his goal. For his next picture at Columbia, "Bedtime Story," he has had a scene written in which will require the use of 20,000 turkeys.

That's exactly the size of the director's flock!

Graphic War Film
Has Leif Erikson

Leif Erikson is a Viking who got his start in life from Shakespeare and Olsen and Johnson.

In his latest screen role, Erikson departs completely from all these influences. He portrays a courageous young American fighter pilot of the Royal Air Force in "Eagle Squadron," Walter Wanger's new Universal production now showing at the Liberty theater.

A native of San Francisco, Erikson grew up in California cities and studied for a singing career. First singing with Ted Fio Rito's band, Erikson branched into dramatics with a role in Max Reinhardt's production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

Afterward, Erikson turned to comedy and went on tour with Olsen and Johnson, leaving the company to accept a screen offer in 1935. Erikson bolstered his rising screen career by acquiring some stage experience in 1939, appearing in a series of Broadway plays.

Back in Hollywood, Erikson has one of the best roles of his career in "Eagle Squadron," in which he appears with Robert Stack, Diana Barrymore, Jon Hall, Eddie Albert, Nigel Bruce, Evelyn Ankers and other prominent players.

Redbirds Gather Fourteen Hits in Shutting Out Cellar-Dwellers

PHILADELPHIA, July 22. (AP)—Bunching fourteen hits behind John Beazley's shutout pitching, the St. Louis Cardinals scored an easy 7-0 victory over the Phils today in the second game of their series. It was Beazley's eleventh victory this season.

The Cardinals blasted St. John's out of the box in the fourth, scoring two runs after a two-run second inning. Frank Horst went out in the sixth when the Red Birds tallied three more. Earl Naylor finished the game. The box score:

Terp Baseballers Win League Opener

COLLEGE PARK, Md., July 22. (AP)—The University of Maryland's summer baseball team trounced George Washington, 15-0, in one of the opening games of the Maryland and District of Columbia Intercollegiate League season.

Approximately 200 persons saw the twilight contest.

Max Hunt went the route for Maryland, giving up only four hits and striking out three men, while the Old Liners were pounding three George Washington hurlers for eleven safeties.

West Side Manufactured Two Runs in the Fourth on George Geatz's Single, Jack Cook's Fielder's Choice

With Geatz out at second, walks to Ed Widdows and Joe Geatz which filled the bases, an infield out, a walk and a wild pitch.

The Whirlwinds' other runs came in the fifth and seventh. In the fifth, Jim Angellata doubled, took third on a passed ball and scored on an infield out and in the seventh, Angellata walked and moved the rest of the way around on singles by Boyer and George Geatz.

North End's victory over the Dodgers, coupled with the Whirlwinds' setback, moved the Nesa club aggregation into a tie with West Side for third place.

The North Enders were never in trouble. They gave Pitcher Bernard Barnard a seven-run lead in the first three innings and in the fourth, sent the score soaring to 10-0. Times-News averted a shut-out by tallying all its counters in the sixth.

Paul Hartung started on the mound for the Dodgers but gave way to Robert "Ace" Baker in the fourth. The two Times-News hurlers gave up eight hits while Barnard held the losers to a half-dozen blows.

Ed Hunt with two for three and Bill Hunt with a triple accounted for half of the Times-News safeties while Rich Brown barked North End's attack with three for three including a home run in the fourth with two mates on the paths. Russ Minnick's banged out two singles for the victors. The score:

Hudson Finally Achieves Long-Sought-After Fifth Victory

DETROIT, July 22. (AP)—Tail Sid Hudson achieved his long sought after fifth victory today by holding the Detroit Tigers to five hits in a twilight game while Roy Cullenbine's two-run homer in the fifth gave the Washington Senators a 2 to 1 triumph.

Hudson, seeking No. 5 long before he was named to the American League All-Star team, permitted only three Tigers to advance past first base. The lone run came in the fourth when Barney McCosky opened with a double, moved up to Roger Cramer's sacrifice and scored on Ned Harris's long fly.

Tommy Bridges scattered six hits in the first four innings without damage but in the fifth with out Ed Stan Spence drew a pass and Cullenbine hammered a long drive into the upper right field seats for his fourth homer of the season.

Yanks Defeat Indians 5-1 in Ten Innings

Rollie Hemsley Gets Four Hits To Pace Champs

DiMaggio's Batting Streak Ends as New Yorkers Extend Lead

CLEVELAND, July 22 (AP)—Joe DiMaggio didn't get a hit today but Rollie Hemsley collected four and the New York Yankees scored four unearned runs in the tenth inning to stretch their winning streak to eleven games at the expense of the Cleveland Indians, 5 to 1, incidentally boosting their league lead to twelve games.

Till the overtime stanza the contest was a tight hurling duel between Alton Donald of the Yankees and Lefty Al Milnar of the Indians. Cleveland's big southpaw not only ended DiMaggio's hitting string at eighteen consecutive games, but limited the world champions' scoring in the regulation distance to one run—Charles (King Kong) Keller's twelfth homer of the season.

He also got the first two men out in the tenth, but then let Tom Henrich sing and passed DiMaggio. At this point Joe Gordon grounded to shortstop Oscar Grimes, who fumbled the ball, kicked it around and finally threw over Catcher Cito Denning's head as Henrich scored. DiMaggio went to third and Gordon reached second.

Keller was intentionally walked to load the bases after which Phil Rizzuto singled for two runs and Hemsley doubled for his fourth hit and second two-bagger to score Keller.

Donald held the Tribe to nine hits and scoreless except for the seventh when Manager Boudreau, Jeff Heath and Les Fleming bunched singles. The box score:

Tami Mauriello Favored To Whip Burman Tonight

Costantino and Hernandez Clash in Twelve-Round Co-Feature

By SID FEDER
NEW YORK, July 22 (AP)—Atrocious Madison Square Garden (bring your own ice bag) opens for the business of bustling beats tomorrow night for the first time in two months, and the chances are very promising that the heavyweight omelet may be scrambled even more by the time Tami Mauriello and Red Burman finish flailing each other.

Tami is the tough young kid from the Bronx who was handed a draw with Rapid Robert Pastor on a platter some eight weeks ago. He is 5 to 12 in the betting to do considerably more to the Baltimore red-head this time in a ten-rounder.

The card also features a twelve-round tussle between Lulu Costantino and Pedro Hernandez, for which the winner will get a shot at Chalky Wright's featherweight championship.

9,000 Fans Expected
A crowd of 9,000 is expected. Ever since Tami suddenly found himself with a draw decision with Pastor, he has been somewhat of a "white-haired boy" in the fight game's more important corners.

Since Rapid Robert is well up on the list of warriors, anyone who can even come within shouting distance of belting him around attracts attention at the box office.

But it is possible that Mauriello may be trying to take a hold on the working end of a riveting machine this time. Red has the experience and the style that is definitely not pie a la mode for the Bronx boy. He keeps moving in and firing torpedoes at the tummy.

If Red's veteran legs can cruise along at reasonable speed for ten rounds, this corner tabs him to upset Mauriello.

Costantino is the favorite, because the last time he was supposed to have been suffering from a bad case of ice cream, eaten too rapidly on top of a sea-food dinner.

Costantino Favored
The featherweight fuss has been getting almost as much notice as Mauriello's outing. In this one, Costantino, who has lost only one fight in sixty, takes on the Puerto Rican from Brooklyn who won that one. TWICE IN SAME PLACE
DID YOU ever get squeezed twice in the same suit? As the dealer runs tricks on which you have to discard one card which looked like a trick winner, and then, as he lays down one more trick of his own suit, he makes you throw away another winner in either your previous suit or another one. That does not happen very often, fortunately. But gosh, how it hurts when it does occur!

When North bid 5-Hearts, after having used the Blackwood, he did it with the idea of trying to make South sign off at 5-No Trumps, feeling that he had overbid his North cards. South refused to be signed off that way, as he was a player who likes hard contracts.

West led the spade 9 to the A. East, realizing from the lead that South surely could take the next two spade tricks, shifted to the heart 2, which brought the 5, 8 and A. Then South went to work. First he sent the club Q through, next the 8 to the 10, the A dropped the K, and two more clubs followed.

It was no job for West to throw his spade 3 on one of these and his heart 9 on the other. But then came his problem when the spade J was finessed. Throwing from his heart Q-10 was unthinkable, as it would set up South's probable J in that suit, so he gave up the diamond 8 from his four card holding, an apparent trick winner ultimately. Then on the spade K he had to throw another apparent winner, though it made little difference what he did now. He picked the heart 10 this time, and the declarer finished with two heart tricks and two top diamonds. If West, discarding on the spade K, had used one of his three remaining diamonds, the declarer could have scored the A, K and 9 of that suit plus the heart K to finish the hand.

If the heart A, diamond A and diamond K take the first three tricks, what simple logic should dictate South's next play in an effort to beat West's 4-Spades on this deal?

Age Limit Raised, Height, Weight Cut For Police Exams

Civil Service Tests Will Be Held Aug. 13; Deadline Is Aug. 8

Changes in the minimum height and weight and the maximum age of applicants for positions in the Cumberland Police Department were announced last evening by the Board of Civil Service Commissioners of the City of Cumberland for an examination to be conducted by the board Thursday, August 13, at 7 p. m. in Fort Hill high school.

Age Limit Now Is 43
Applicants for positions on the department must be between twenty-one and forty-three years of age instead of the former maximum age limit of forty. The minimum weight was reduced from 145 to 140 pounds and the minimum height from five feet, nine inches to the present five feet, eight inches.

The board, comprising C. Philip Jolley, chairman, H. Clifford Spiker and Jesse W. Korns with Samuel E. Griminger as secretary, announced that changes in age, height and weight of applicants is necessary because of the urgent need of men in the emergency.

All male citizens who desire to take the examination may obtain application blanks from the city clerk at his office in the city hall. The applications will be available after Monday, July 27.

Deadline Is August 8
A fee will be charged for medical examination and Drs. William B. Barrow and Clay E. Durrett, surgeons to the commission, will examine applicants at any time upon appointment.

All applications must be in the hands of the city clerk properly executed and filled out in ink and with the medical examination report attached thereto not later than 12 o'clock noon on Saturday, August 8. Applications received after this date will be disregarded.

Those who fail to appear at Fort Hill high school later than 7 p. m. August 13 will not be permitted to take the examination.

Last night's meeting of the board was requested by James Orr, police commissioner, in view of the fact that the police eligible list has dwindled to three men. Orr is hopeful that an examination will produce enough men to increase the eligible list to ten.

2,000 PREMIUM BOOKS ISSUED FOR FAIR; 275 4-H GIRLS TO EXHIBIT

Two thousand premium books have been distributed among exhibitors for the annual Cumberland Fair which will be staged the week of August 10 to 15, it was announced yesterday.

Miss Margaret Loar, assistant county home demonstration agent, said that approximately fifty per cent of 550 girls enrolled in the twenty-five 4-H clubs in the county will enter exhibits in the fair this year. The girls in these clubs are from ten to twenty-one years old. Due to the sugar rationing program, sugar or sugar substitutes may be used in baked or preserved foods entered in the fair next month, Miss Loar said.

New Case Supervisor Joins Welfare Staff

Miss Margaret Wiggins, formerly associated with the Cecil County Welfare Board, has joined the Allegheny County Welfare Board as case supervisor.

Miss Wiggins replaces Lesser Zussman, case supervisor, who has joined the armed forces.

Moose Band Will Play for Concert

City Will Sponsor Affair Aug. 2; Second Songfest Is Being Planned

The band of Cumberland lodge, Loyal Order of Moose, will give a concert Sunday, August 2, at 8:30 p. m. in the amphitheater of Constitution park.

The concert is the second of a series sponsored by the City of Cumberland, music for the first affair having been provided by the band of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion.

A. Florian Wilson, director of Cumberland's initial Community Songfest, staged last Sunday at the park under the auspices of the City Park Board, has received a number of letters this week congratulating him on the splendid success of the affair.

"I know I had a grand time, as well as the many people present," a Davidson street woman wrote. "We needed something like this in Cumberland, especially at this time. Every individual taking part should be especially pleased."

"Wouldn't it be nice if those affairs could be held regularly and I believe, if volunteers for talent were asked from the audience you would get quite a response."

Mayor Conlon yesterday said that arrangements will be made to stage another Community Songfest in the near future.

It was estimated that 5,000 persons attended the first affair of its kind ever held in the city park.

SEEKS JUDGESHIP—Leo H. Miller, of Hagerstown, member of the Washington County Bar, was in Cumberland yesterday and filed his candidacy for the Republican nomination for associate judge of the Fourth judicial circuit.

Leo H. Miller Is Candidate for Associate Judge

Hagerstown Attorney Files for G. O. P. Nomination in Fourth Circuit

Leo H. Miller, of Hagerstown, member of the Washington County Bar, yesterday filed his certificate here as a candidate for the nomination for associate judge of the Fourth judicial circuit, subject to the action of the Republican primary.

Miller said he had decided to file after long consideration and that, if nominated and elected, he would serve fairly and impartially in carrying out the duties of the important office.

A past president of the chamber of commerce and Kiwanis club in Hagerstown, Miller was born in Sharpsburg, in 1893 and educated in the public schools of the county, Shepherd State Normal school and West Virginia university where he graduated in 1917. After serving in the First World War, he attended the University of Maryland Law School graduating with the degree of Bachelor of Laws in 1920.

For three years he was principal of the Martinsburg, W. Va., high school and for one year was assistant law librarian at Des Moines, Iowa. Later he served for more than a year in the law firm of Knapp, Ulman and Tucker in Baltimore. Since that time he has been engaged in the general practice of law in Hagerstown.

Miller has been active in the religious, economic and social life of his community, is a member of the board of trustees of St. Paul's Methodist church, American Legion, Masonic lodge and other organizations. He is the second Republican to announce. Former State's Attorney Ellsworth R. Roullette, of Hagerstown, filed several weeks ago. Judge Joseph D. Miah, Democrat, announced Saturday he would file for re-election this week.

ROBERT BOWERS URGES DONATION OF OLD PHONOGRAPH RECORDS

Sending phonograph records to members of the American armed forces in many parts of the world will be a big contribution toward their contentment, Robert Bowers, past commander of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, declared in a radio address over WTBO last evening.

Bowers, speaking in Cumberland's part of the national campaign, appealed for records of all sorts which may be left at the Legion home, and fire station for which will be called for if contributors will telephone to the Legion. The campaign ends Aug. 2.

More than 100 famous entertainers have pledged their support of the campaign, Bowers pointed out, in asking that the local and vicinity contribution be generous. Froburg and Lonaconing veterans are assisting, he said.

The campaign, called "Records for Our Fighting Men" is being pushed in every state and first reports indicate it will be a success. Many records will be sent direct to the armed services, but thousands will be sold for scrap and the proceeds used to buy new records. Sponsors of the movement have donated their services free and have formed a non-profit organization to handle the campaign.

Abandonment of Passenger Service On C. and P. Railroad Is Opposed

Public Service Commission Takes Matter under Advisement

BALTIMORE, July 22 (AP)—The Public Service Commission, hearing testimony on an application to discontinue passenger service on a railroad line between Cumberland, Md., and Piedmont, W. Va., was told today both that the paralleling bus service was adequate and inadequate.

William Claus, vice-president and general manager of the Cumberland and Pennsylvania Railroad Company, which made the application, said persons who now use the 33.4 mile railroad could be accommodated readily by existing bus facilities.

Abandonment Is Opposed
B. W. O'Rourke, representing the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, opposing the abandonment of the passenger service, said the buses were crowded at the present time and that discontinuance of the train service would mean that people in the area served would be "unable to get to their work in Cumberland."

O'Rourke said the persons who used the railroad now were employed chiefly at plants near either end of the railroad and that reduction of other travel facilities because of wartime restrictions made the railroad's operation "more important than ever."

Law Enforcement Officers Discuss Prostitution Here

Fight against Venereal Diseases Described by County Health Officer

A thorough discussion of the enforcement of laws affecting prostitution in the vicinity of military camps was held at the FBI quarterly conference for Allegheny and Garrett county police which met yesterday morning in the federal building here.

Dr. Theodore Shrop, county health officer, outlined to the enforcement officers present the activities of the county public health department in the fight against venereal diseases. He also reported on conditions generally throughout the country.

Although, he said, there has been no report of commercialized vice in this area, Paul M. Fletcher, assistant state's attorney, emphasized the need for careful and diligent law enforcement. He also spoke briefly on state statutes covering the enforcement of prostitution.

E. A. Soucy, special agent in charge of the Baltimore office of the FBI, said the purpose of the discussion was to co-ordinate efforts of law enforcement agencies in enforcement of regulations affecting prostitution.

Provisions of the May act, federal regulations pertaining to the enforcement and control of prostitution, were discussed by Soucy.

Those who attended the session were Corp. Harold C. Carl, Maryland State Police; James Orr, commissioner of police and fire; Lieut. James E. Van, Detective James J. Condon, Officers Thomas T. Griffin, Guy E. Williams, Philip Holsey, R. M. Nuse, J. W. Weakley, Thomas J. See, E. M. Powell, John E. Sherry, Vincent P. Delaunoy, P. C. Jenkins, all of the Cumberland Police Department; David M. Steele, deputy sheriff, Allegheny county; Howard Loughrie, deputy United States marshal; Constable J. S. Teats, Friendsville; Charles C. Clayton, chief of police, Luke; B. H. Thomas, chief of police, and R. L. Kreider, assistant chief of police, Froburg.

Cook was born at Froburg, a son of the late Robert H. and Minnie Speir Cook. His father, now deceased, who was a member of Parady post of the American Legion, was permanently disabled on the battlefields of France in the first World War. Noel is a first cousin of the late Henry Hart, for whom the Veterans of Foreign Wars post in Cumberland is named. On his mother's side he is descended from the Speir family, early Scotch settlers of Lonaconing.

Cook was graduated from Beall high school in 1922; from Froburg State Teacher's College in 1924, and was an Honor graduate of the University of Maryland Law School class of 1930.

He was the first Froburg member of Cumberland chapter of the Order of DeMolay and has also been active in the Elks, the Eagles, the Allegheny-Garrett County Sportsmen's Association, the Young Men's Republican Club of Froburg and the Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity. He also holds membership in the Allegheny County and Maryland State Bar Associations.

Cook maintains law offices in both Cumberland and Froburg, and resides with his wife in the Hitchens-Stewart apartments at Froburg.

The need for 6,000,000 more tons of steel within the next three months to aid the nation's war effort was stressed by Alan S. Humphries, of the industrial salvage section of the War Production Board, Pittsburgh, at a meeting of the local industrial salvage committee held last night in the office of the chamber of commerce.

Discussing the nationwide salvage campaign of the bureau of industrial conservation of the War Production Board, Humphries told the local group that Cumberland industries are "doing a good job" but he urged that the local committee secure steel from old bridges, rails, mining equipment, steam shovels and other idle equipment.

Humphries pointed out that this is not a "one week war" so we don't want a one week or a one month drive. We want continuous effort.

The summer is the best time for salvage work, Humphries explained, urging the formation of committees throughout Cumberland so that every "man, woman and child" will collect steel, copper, brass and rubber.

A nationwide advertising campaign relating to industrial salvage already has been started throughout the nation, Humphries said. Cost of the campaign, sponsored by steel and rubber industry, he estimated at $1,500,000.

Bart J. Lyons is chairman of the local industrial salvage committee.

Kenneth Leasure, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Stanley Leasure, 538 Eastern avenue, was treated in Memorial hospital yesterday morning for a lacerated left hand. The child cut his hand where he fell on a piece of glass at home. He was not admitted.

Rationing Boards Urged To Be Strict

Requirements Must Be Met for Gasoline Program

Allegheny county's two rationing boards yesterday were reminded that they should insist upon strict compliance with the gasoline rationing regulations in issuing ration tickets.

In a directive to the boards, E. S. Ferguson, regional rationing executive, said that the new rationing system allotments are based upon close estimates of available gasoline and that loose administration by local boards would result in distortion of the distribution which would in turn endanger the program itself and the flow of gasoline to those who are eligible.

"In passing upon applications," Ferguson said, "the board should require a full demonstration of all necessary facts. It should be as strict with an application for gasoline ration as it is with an application for tires."

In applications for supplemental rations, Ferguson directed that boards should carefully determine:

1. Whether a ride-sharing arrangement has been entered into. 2. Whether it is bona fide. 3. Whether the applicant intends to continue the arrangement. 4. If no ride-sharing arrangement has been entered into, whether as many passengers as possible are being carried by the applicant and that no alternative means of transportation is available.

Particularly in urban areas, the possibility of applicants using buses must be definitely investigated and the application must be denied if such transportation is adequate.

The board is advised not to grant a supplemental ration until it is fully satisfied that all requirements are met.

Mother of Two Local Residents Killed by Train

Mrs. Hattie Clair Logsdon Is Fatally Injured in Hyndman, Pa.

The mother of two Cumberland residents was instantly killed at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon when she was struck by an eastbound Baltimore and Ohio passenger locomotive on the railroad right-of-way in Hyndman, Pa.

Dr. John A. Topper, deputy coroner, identified the victim as Mrs. Hattie Clair Logsdon, 72, Hyndman, whose death he said was accidental.

Mrs. Logsdon, a native of Green Ridge, east of Cumberland, was crossing from the south to the north side of the triple tracks in Hyndman, about three blocks from her home, when she was struck, apparently by the steps leading from the cab of the locomotive.

The train stopped almost immediately after dragging the woman's body a short distance. Her face was badly mutilated and her left leg was fractured.

Hyndman residents said Mrs. Logsdon habitually walked along the tracks to her home. She evidently did not hear or see the train approaching.

A daughter of the late Harvey and Rachael Smith, Green Ridge, Mrs. Logsdon was first married to Dr. H. E. Mitchell who died a number of years ago. She was later married to William Logsdon, Hyndman, who died about a year ago. She was a member of the Hyndman Methodist church.

Surviving are five daughters, Mrs. William Laurant, Quicksburg, Va.; Mrs. Ralph Hilligass, Baltimore; Mrs. Edward Plomone, San Diego, Cal.; Mrs. Stella Dunn and Mrs. James Zollner, Cumberland; one son, Cecil Mitchell, Hancock.

Private funeral services will be held Friday at the Zeigler funeral home in Hyndman with the Rev. Hiram Van Voorhis officiating. Interment will be in Hyndman cemetery.

Judge Sloan Files For Re-election As Chief Judge

Jurist Will Be Eligible for Retirement in April, 1944

D. Lindley Sloan, chief judge of the Fourth judicial circuit, yesterday filed his candidacy for re-election, subject to the Republican primary Sept. 8. The circuit is composed of Allegheny, Garrett and Washington counties.

Judge Sloan was endorsed for re-election by the Allegheny County Democratic State Central Committee at a meeting here Sunday night. To date he is unopposed for the office.

If re-elected, Judge Sloan will be eligible to serve until April, 1944, when he will reach the retirement age of seventy years. Under Maryland law, retirement of jurists at this age is mandatory and the resultant vacancy will be filled by gubernatorial appointment until the next election.

Judge Sloan's fifteen year elective term expired in 1941 but he was re-appointed for another year by Gov. Herbert R. O'Connor who, in announcing the appointment, paid high tribute to the jurist and commented that his being a Republican had no bearing on the issue.

As chief judge of the Fourth judicial circuit, Judge Sloan is a member of the Maryland Court of Appeals and in reappointing him the governor said "we need on our highest court men of demonstrated capacity, unquestioned integrity and wide experience."

Chatter desires to thank Charles F. Heller for the following editorial from "Hunting and Fishing," written by T. Norman Tvetter and entitled "Kit Carson—Come Back We Need You Now."

We need your trusty gun now—your unerring eye which made every bullet count for America.

Your life and the scalps of many Americans depended on your skill with your gun.

Kit, things have changed since you went away.

Shootin' fell into bad repute—even though we did manage to save ourselves by some good shootin' twenty-odd years ago.

But afterwards somebody said that the people who make guns start the wars, so we gave our own gun makers a "lambsasting" and began to make it tough for anybody to use a gun. Not only that, we scrapped a lot of our cannon, kinda forgettin' that a shootin' iron made it safe for America to start business—and stay in business... kinda forgettin' that maybe the other fellows wouldn't match us in this disarming business.

Kit, come back. We need you NOW!

We need you to tell Congress that everybody should begin practicing with his shootin' irons and that if there ain't enough to go around we should take to practicing aimin', even though we've got only a broomstick to aim with.

We need you to tell state legislatures to drop all the bars that have been put up against shootin'. You won't believe this, but right now the folks in many places can't even snap a 22 on their own property without running afoul of the law, and they might have to do some shootin' to save their skins before long.

Kit, we need you to give our admirals and generals a "break." Our disarmin' policy only put them in just a little smaller "dog house" than the gun makers. Kit, isn't it awful to ask a man to save your life after you've looked down on him and treated him as sort of a "tin soldier" or, in the case of gun makers, labeled with the title of "merchant of death"? You didn't call the gunsmith that made your rifle a "merchant of death," did you?

Kit, we need action quick. Instead of talking, we ought to do some shootin' with what sporting guns we got, and do some scoutin' around in our midst.

Kit, we wish you could come back and tell these United States of ours what you know about shootin'!

Barnard advises motorists to see that station attendants take the proper number of coupons and no more when the books are presented for gasoline.

"A" coupon book contains six sheets of eight coupons each and these forty-eight coupons represent a year's supply of coupons will be good for a two-month period. The eight coupons on the first sheet are marked "A-1" which means that they may be used any time during
